

Nanocon 2017 Artist Contract

820 N Washington Ave
Madison, SD 57042
Nanocon@dsu.edu

For any person looking to attend Nanocon as an Artist Vendor, they must follow a specific set of guidelines:

All Artist(s) must submit five pieces of original work to hunter.wood@trojans.dsu.edu to express the want to participate by September 18th. The Artist(s) may take a picture of their work but they must have proof that it is their work. Any sort of plagiarism will not be tolerated and the Artist will not be chosen. If the Artist(s) submits less than three pieces of art, then they will also not be chosen. If the Artist(s) has a problem with this, they will need to contact the Nanocon Planning Committee at Nanocon@dsu.edu or hunter.wood@trojans.dsu.edu. We will have the Nanocon Planning Committee look at these pieces of art and choose Artists from them. Artists will hear back from Nanocon Planning Committee by September 27th. The deadline for Artists to return this contract and to participate in Nanocon will be on October 18th. We will not be accepting any late entries. If for some reason an Artist(s) must submit the contract late you must e-mail hunter.wood@trojans.dsu.edu before the deadline.

All items for sale must be created by the attending Artist(s). Their work can include paintings, drawings, sculptures, jewelry, books, dolls, clothing, crafts, print items (such as bookmarks, keychains, buttons, stickers, and fine art prints), etc. It is important that the sold items be safe for customers and convention attendees; if an Artist's product falls outside of the listed, acceptable items, they should contact the Nanocon Planning Committee to gain insight into what is allowed.

Any Artist may choose to bring an 'Artist Assistant', one individual who is given the rights to aid in the production and sales of the work being sold. The Artist Assistant must not be the only person attending the convention to solicit business on an artist's behalf (unless agreed upon by the Nanocon Planning Committee and the Artist themselves).

Artist space is limited to half of a table, with the tables being located in the main room at the convention location. The tables are available for free to attending Artists, but to reserve a space, an Artist must first complete and submit this application (signature must be included) to the email located at the top of the page.

Artists are responsible for their own belongings, supplies and products. Nanocon does not claim responsibility for stolen, damaged or lost items of any kind. The Convention will provide space for Artist items though, and will ensure that Convention attendees will not enter the space designated for these purposes during regular floor hours (10am – 5pm).

Artists may set up prior to the convention start at 5:00pm on Thursday, November 9th. If an Artist anticipates not being able to set up during this time frame, they must contact the Nanocon Planning Committee with what time they will be setting up.

All materials must be removed from the Artist area between 6:00pm and 7:00pm on Sunday, November 12th. If an Artist anticipates not being able to clean up between this time frame (whether they plan on closing their shop prior to or afterwards), they must contact the Nanocon Planning Committee with what time they will be leaving.
